FRIENDSHIP CHAIN:

Have you ever made a paper chain that you cut off a piece to countdown to a big event, like Christmas or a trip? This week you're going to make a paper chain that you add to every time you are a good friend or someone is a good friend to you. Go ahead and prepare some strips (colorful paper is great if you have it!) and choose a location for your friendship chain. Then, let the friendship-ing begin! Every night at dinner or before bed, share with each other one way that you loved, accepted, forgave, or encouraged someone—or how someone did that for you. Write the name of the person on the piece of a paper and add it to the chain. See how long your chain grows during the week!
